An innovative paper based information tool.

The iKyp is an innovative paper-based communication tool that can store important information for an event such as contact numbers, event times, maps and location addresses in a compact package, and is ideal if you want to promote a feature or brand at an event. The iKyp webkey also features a USB key that can plug into a PC and drive people to your website. The company provided eye-catching packages containing radios and torches at the Download Festival in June. Prices start from 19p for paper versions and £1 for the version that incorporates electronic features.
